Proctorial Board
Ragging has been completely banned: as per the Hon’ble Supreme Court of India ruling in the matter of "G.N.I.T.E., G.N.I.T.E., U.P.T.U. and others v. GMUT". The GMUT has been constituted to maintain high level of security and safe guards on the campus. The decision is implemented in every institute through its Proctorial Board with a vision to provide a better learning environment. The board is constituted as:

A. Anti Ragging Squad
B. Discipline Committee
C. Women’s Grievance Cell

Anti-Ragging squad ensures that GMUT is a ragging free campus. Are we safe? I mean the late new students feel obligations, to keep a strict watch during the admission of the last year students. If there is no case of ragging after admission to the institute. All cases of ragging will be referred to Anti-Ragging Committee of the institute. All affected students are to liberty to approach Anti-Ragging Committee/Complaints on Telephone Numbers presently displayed in the Building. The honorable court has also asked the local police to file FIR and take strict penal action against the culprit. The relevant portion is translated from the Hindi news report published in a leading daily of Delhi.

Disclaimer: All matters are under the jurisdiction of G.N.I.T.E. Meerut Campus.

We take pride in achieving 100% ragging free Campus. Ragging is a punishable offence. Indulging in any form of ragging may lead to imprisonment of rustication. As per the Hon’ble Supreme Court of India.
